JOINING INSTRUCTIONS

It is the responsibility of each delegate to make their own travel arrangements to and from their home. To ensure course content isn't missed we kindly ask you to consider your departure time. Our training facility is situated approximately 1 hours drive from Bristol Airport. Most flights will require roughly 2 hour check in allowing adequate time for security checks.

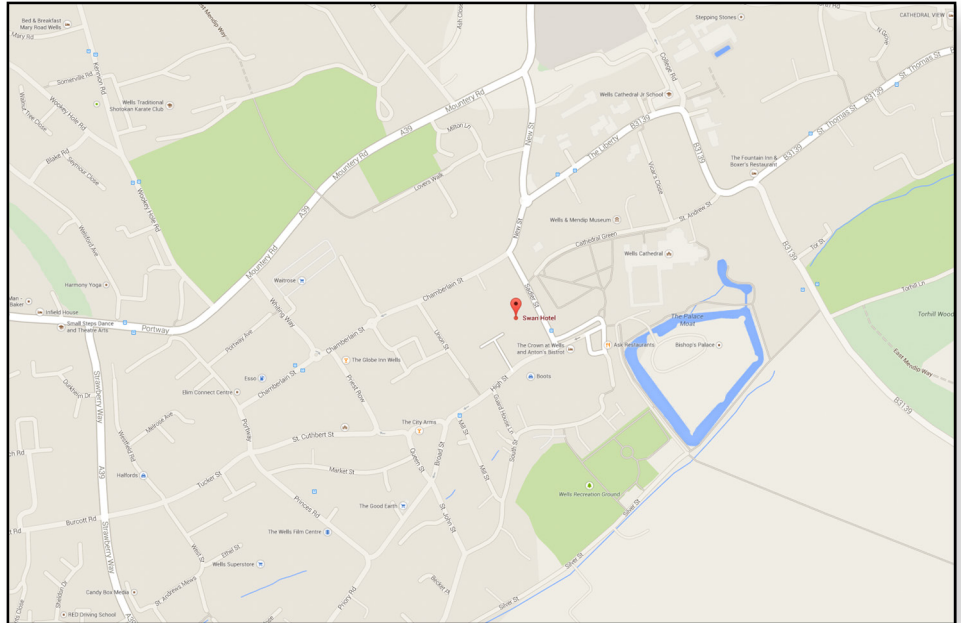

Accommodation reservations at the Swan Hotel in Wells can be made by Seamap on your behalf, however payment is the liability of either the delegate or their employer. In advance of arrival, please check whether your employer holds a credit account, and allow for adequate expenses to pay for your accommodation, hotel meals and beverages etc on departure if necessary. It is possible that your employer has elected to use an alternative hotel. Please check with your employer in advance.

If taxis have been pre-arranged between your hotel and Seamap's training facility, all delegates will still be required to make cash payments for these journeys throughout the duration of their stay.

Lunch and refreshments served during the course will be provided free of charge. If delegates have any particular dietary requirements, health issues, or are registered disabled then please email training-uk@seamap.com with details at least 5 working days in advance of the course start date. All information will be treated in the strictest of confidence.

Students will all receive certificates on completion of the course. These will be handed out at the end of the course or posted to your company's head office shortly after course completion.
